

Science News:

Given the growing quantum time-travelling capabilities being developed in the laboratories of the ruling class, they may be perfecting the capacity to "recuperate" various events before they actually take place. Evidently the ripples of the First Quantum Flux Football Equinox Fest are already being felt, backwards through time...

Firstly, bourgeois science claims to have finally demonstrated Quantum Surrealism (although mired in Bretonian dualism, they are still some way from perfecting a fully operative Sitology). CIFAR Senior Fellow Aephraim Steinberg (University of Toronto) and colleagues recently re-ran the famous "double slit" experiment, attempting to observe the "nonlocal" influence of another entangled photon on that measured (See Steinberg et al. 'Experimental nonlocal and surreal Bohmian trajectories', Science Advances 19 Feb 2016 [vulg.]:Vol. 2, no. 2).

Counter to the Copenhagen Interpretation, De Broglie-Bohm theory proposes that photons - like, they argue, billiard balls - possess "real" rather than merely probabilistic trajectories. Steinberg however claims: "I'm less interested in focusing on the philosophical question of what's 'really' out there ... Rather than thinking about different metaphysical interpretations, I would phrase it in terms of having different pictures." Between billiard ball realism and Bohr's probabilistic account, Steinberg and co. claim to demonstrate "Quantum Surrealism": that measuring the "real" trajectory of a particle disturbs the trajectory of its entangled particle instantaneously at distance. In this recent attempt, Steinberg's team sought to confirm that Surrealism is a consequence of non-locality.

Clearly however, their bourgeois perspective grants insufficient attention to Jörn's indictment of the dualistic metaphysics of Bretonian Surrealism and its Engelsian - "billiard ball" conception of 'objective chance' (the dialectical relationship of freedom and necessity). In his only footnote to Pour la forme, Jörn relates the anecdote of his former CoBRA and Revolutionary Surrealist comrade Christian Dotremont, who spent some "strange days" in Dunkirk during the English bombardment, wandering deserted bars, playing billiards on his own. "Several years later", Jörn continues, "he entered the gallery of the Surrealist exhibition in Paris to see André Breton attempting to shock visitors by playing alone on a billiard table. It was the end of Surrealism." What Steinberg and Breton took for granted is that any billiard ball can be called "real" when situated within the context of the repeatable experiment, and not itself as a manifestation of a greater experiment: the game of which it is part. For Jörn, the point is that Surrealism, like Steinberg, is more interested in a final levelling out than in the "real" play of trajectories.

Having ourselves made significant use of the Triple Slit Experiment (aka Three-Sided Football) over many years, we are well aware of the superpositional effects of triolectical entanglement, something bourgeois science is only now waking up to. Indeed, in the same month Steinberg's woeful efforts were made public, researchers at Institute of Quantum Optics and Quantum Information, University of Vienna achieved the triolectical entanglement of three particles of light in a high-dimensional quantum property related to the 'twist' of their wavefront structure (Multi-Photon Entanglement in High Dimensions', Malik et al., Nature Photonics, 2016). In this, not only were they evidently just catching up with developments in n-dimensional superposition successfully demonstrated by DAMTP and the NPTA in August last year, but they are clearly seeking to simulate effects we have been able to create on the football field for some time, effects that will inevitably manifest during the worldwide superposition of the FQFFEF.

These so-called experiments in the labs of the bourgeoisie indicate worrying developments, but they remain confident that their technologies are still some way from being able to halt the multidirectional, multidimensional advance of three-sided football.

A very serious misconception from the public in Sierra Leone about the first confirmed case in the country of a 22yrs old girl who died few days ago after Ebola was declared Free. She died in the northern Tonkolili district, which borders north and southern province of Sierra Leone. Information coming in from Kambia district indicates that the stepfather to the deceased index case, Sheikh Osman Kamara, who recently died from the Ebola virus, has fled to avoid being quarantined along with others who came into contact with the deceased. The general public is informed of a high risk contact to the index case who is believed to have travelled to the Western Area Urban by boat from Kambia district on Saturday, 16 January 2016. "The ministry of health said in a press release issued today. Sheikh Osman Kamara is the stepfather to the deceased index case and hosted her in Kambia. He is five foot tall, dark in complexion between the ages of 35 to 45 years old. He is an Islamic scholar and was last seen around Pademba Road in Freetown on Saturday. It was gathered that the aged man helped to care for his late step-daughter when she was sick, unknown to him, it was the deceased Ebola virus disease. Earlier reports had informed that about 103 people who came in contact with the late Mariatu Jalloh, who died last Thursday in Tonkolili district, have been placed in quarantine for medical watch. However, 3 contacts are said to have escaped. But people are totally saying it is untrue which had borne out of deliberately fallacious that the Government is doing this to make more money and creates environment for the President to stay in power as he wants to go for third team, more time or Extra Time in office. President Ernest Koroma is Not Running for Third Term or Extra Time, State House disclosed on Saturday, as the President finally breaks silence about the unpopular extra time campaign promoted by sections of misguided APC members. Ebola can kill up to 90% of those infected and is passed on through contact with the fluids of infected people or animals, such as urine, sweat and blood. Continued efforts in the sensitization and awareness raising towards Ebola Free Sierra Leone, continue to roll out the Channels of Hope Program targeting Faith Based Community Leaders country wide and the checking of temperature and washing of hands still continues in offices, public

RA FEDERICO TRAIANE AND GASTON EBUA VERSU
LAND BERLIN

Dear law students,
Dear All,

You are kindly invited to take part in the oral hearing and court debate regarding an independent regulation of „verkehrsrechtlichen Verkehrsrechtsverfahren“ by the „Kammergericht“ Berlin for third party advocacy.
This legally binding procedure under international human rights treaty procedure law allows an individual or any third party who is not a national lawyer to carry out international treaty procedures on their behalf.

Our aim is to force the court to acknowledge that this is equally valid for business purposes for third party who are not state lawyers.
RA Federico Traiane and Gaston Ebu (Kammergericht Berlin)

RANSOM DEMAND

Initial reports on the beheading claimed that it had been done by an ISIS/Daesh cell operating in England. In other claims on the internet, British graffiti artist Banksy has been suggested as the perpetrator.
M15 and M16 while initially contradicting each other have now confirmed that this is not true. Britain First are being blamed by the Home Office for what it called "irresponsible racist scaremongering".

Reports have this morning emerged of a bizarrely named group, referring to themselves as "psychic workers" called All Made-up And Non-existent Dead Labourers Association (AMANDLA) which has claimed responsibility for the beheading on various websites and blogs.

Oriel College and Oxford University have declined to comment on claims that the group has demanded a £100million ransom for the return of the head.

The trip was proposed by comrade Tae Ateh because of quantum superimposition of basic spatial, temporal and animist features, but also because of the biggest variety of the lichens found in the area of Raižiai -(45 taxa), and where most of the gravestones are siliceous rocks (natural collector of information – a hard disc). Very rare species identified were Lecanora semipallida H.Magn., Lecanora sulphurea (Hoffm.) Ach., Xanthoparmelia ver- (Nyl.) O. Blanco, Psilolechia lucida (Ach.) M. Choisy, Rhizocarpon geographicum (L.) DC., and Rhizocarpon lecanorinum Anders.

through the main cemetery – were partly identical to but there was some older previous old cemetery, space in a grass got into the promised ns.

The Raižiai village is known as Tatarian living place since XVI century. There was a Lithuanian Muslim cen-(ABRACADABRA-C) did an attempt to arrange the trans-national psychic workers' meeting with the local community of Raižiai. The communication was available only through the local representative of community Ipolitas, who arranged it in a way of tourist entertainment by presenting the symbolic items, which supposed to mean community itself.

We did a tour through the basic symbolic arrangements serving as screens for the local community to hide away – that was what we realized in the end of our tour when it started to be clear that nobody from the community are willing to appear.

The grand symbol of the Tartar community is the monument for the symbiosis of the Grand Duchess of Lithuania (Columns of Gediminas) and Golden Horde (Tarak-Tamga) – there our tour has started. Comrade Tae Ateh recognized two letters coming into one....

The first time dimension – the dates – those to coincide with the beginning of the Age of Divinity. The oldest date on the memorial is 1397 - this is 2 years after the death of Naimi Fazlallah Hurufi -

The Seal of the Saints. The arc of time up until 2007 when Isidore Isou died is what we call the Age of Divinity. It is the period where Ju-

And there in Raižiai some three Tae Ateh's got high for a short due to the 3- species-mixed-lichens' joint. That was a proletarian solidarity act. The di Lichens also play a very significant role in nature. They are the pioneers in rocky substrates, where there is no soil. Lichens break down the rocky substrate into soil and their decomposing thallus fertilize the newly produced soil, making it possible for the plant habitation.

In short, my question is: what kind of "man" is meant when we say "Anthropocene"? Given that the "Anthropos" in the Anthropocene turns out to be our old friend the (imperialist) white male, my mantra has become: it's not the Anthropocene, it's the white supremacy scene. Many within academia might find such terminology too crude or extreme. For #BlackLivesMatter activists, however, white supremacy is a given. Since the events in Ferguson, even mainstream figures like Hillary Clinton have been speaking of "systemic racism," using the phrase coined by social scientists Joe Feagin and Sean Elias.

As combining the features of the algae and fungus, lichens' mycellium is a part of a neurological network of nature that operates similar to the internet, allowing it to communicate with the planet and other species. This neurological network of nature can be found not only on Earth but also in the web structures of dark matter, the matrices of string theory, philosophy of 3 sided football and many parts of the Universe. We consider this neurological network being the structure of natural psychic working.

synthesis of Islam and Christianity in Protestantism, into Capitalism which reaches its apex as the organising force of the world.

is now common knowledge, the Anthropocene is the proposed name for a new geological era, the "recent human era." This understanding relies on the identification of a "single physical manifestation of a change recorded in a stratigraphic section, often reflecting a global-change phenomenon."

These second time dimension was the situ time of the sun clock, showing the local time. And another time dimension here was showing the time from the location were the Battle of Grünworld (the Battle of Tannenberg or Battle of Žalgiris – the absolute symbol adopted by Lithuanian nationalism) took place – that is because of the exceptional loyalty what was shown by the Tatar community towards the majority of the population who identified themselves as Lithuanians through the ages. Although the battle is much more important not because of commanding, but rather because of the proletarian role of Lipka tatars as we will show later in this text.

While wondering in Raižiai Tae Ateh found a strange round-shaped stone in a field. We were told that this stone was supposed to be on the top of the monument.

They were invited to visit the local mosque, built in 1889 and which was the only one to function during the Soviet period. Our comrade Tae Ateh refused to do the tour because he saw it too much tourist-like and been commonly used as indicators of certain pollutants, especially since different species are sensitive to different chemicals and quantities of them. In urban areas, where lichen surveys have been carried out, the absence of certain indicator species is used as early warnings of decrease in air quality. So lichens are true class enemies to the bourgeoisie – the true animist proletariat. There were no remnants of bourgeois symbolism, but it goes well together with exposed Tatars loyalty to the stronger majority what made their commu- to survive through the ages. Another interesting fact about lichen is that they
